

Please do not cave in to the massively funded lobbying efforts of the NAB. Radio listeners are entitled to the choice of satellite radio. That so many people have made the choice of satellite radio speaks volumes about the sorry state of commercial broadcast radio, with its taped, cookie-cutter programming, endless commercials and mindless banter, and lack of local flavor. People who pay for satellite radio are entitled to hear the local traffic, weather, and news on this service. Clear Channel won't provide it on its monopoly of radio stations nationwide, and listeners are entitled to an alternative. Don't stifle the innovation and competition of satellite radio. It provides a real benefit to millions of listeners. If you listen to the NAB instead, the FCC will once again prove itself to be a lackey of corporate interests rather than ordinary consumers.
